New York, Oct. 1 (By A. P.) .-Although he accepted on the stand today responsibility for allowing the $7,000,000 American Metals Co. claim in 1921. United States Senator Guy D. Goff was pictured by the government as a marionette moved about on the political stage by subordinates at the direction of Harry M. Daugherty. Senator Goff, now one of the representatives of West Virginia in the Senate, took the stand as the second defense witness in the trial of Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller for conspiring to defraud the government of their best services in allowing the metal company's claim for assets impounded during the war. Daugherty at that time was Attorney General and Miller was alien property custodian. Goff was assistant to the Attorney General in charge of alien property custodian matters in Daugherty's department Defendants Not Consulted.

He was called to the stand by Max D. Steuer, counsel for Daugherty, and denied that up to the time he signed the papers releasing to Richard Merton, German metal magnate, the impounded property, he had ever discussed the claim with Daugherty, Miller, Jess W. Smith or John T. King. The government charges that by using as bribes part of the $441,000 fee given to him by Merton to obtain approval of the claim, King had persuaded Daugherty and Miller to give their ap-"reaching" them through Smith. "Were you ever approached in person or by writing, in an effort to influence you by Jess Smith or John T. King?"-"I was not."

"You signed these papers because you had come to the independent conclusion that the claim was valid?" Steur asked.

United States Attorney Buckner then took the witness and elicited from him that much of his knowledge about the Merton claim came to him through Adna R. Johnson, a special Assistant Attorney General appointed by Daugherty, who did the bulk of the actual A. P. C. work in the attorney's office, but was subordinate to Goff, a Hard-was subordinate to was subordinate to Goff, a Hard-

Asked Further Data.

The witness said that in the American Metals Co. matter he had conferred with Johnson, Merton and George E. Williams, Miller's sistant, in the alien property custodian's office, who had approved the claim for Miller. Goff said that at the first conference he had ruled that he must have more informa ion concerning the ultimate beneficiaries, if the claim should be allowed. At the second conference, in August, 1921, he said he was told that these papers had been added to the file and that he then signed the papers releasing the $7,000,000, these papers being dic-tated and presented to him by John-

New York, Oct. 1 .- The New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals will open tomorrow an engagement which to Washington baseball enthusiasts will be just "another" world's series, not "the world's series," as was the case for

New York for the past few days has been congratulating itself, like the ancient Pharisee, that it was, "not like other cities," and could take its world's series or leave it alone. Tonight, nevertheless, there is considerable excitement, akin to fever, along the Rialto.

A world's series may in a sense be just a routine matter to New York and New Yorkers, but this year the diamond devotees of the metropolis are anxious to convince hemselves that the Yankees to morrow will be the team of May, June and July-the boisterous clouters of the first half of the penoutfit that slamped into the American league pennant by the grace of their early magnificence, rather than any sign of power at the finish

The solution of this puzzle would, it seems, now determine whether the world's championship is to rest East or West of the Mississippi for the next twelve months. The con-

Gen. Butler, Who Accused the Officer of Intoxication. Voices Deep Grief.

San Francisco, Calif., Oct. 1 (By A. P.) .- Col. Alexander S. Willams, of the United States marine corps, whose convivialty at a dinner at San Diego given in honor of Brig. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, resulted in his conviction by a courtmartial on charges of drinking and conduct unbecoming an officer, was not intoxicated when he plunged to his death in San Francisco bay early this morning.

This was the finding at a coroner's autopsy late today, which disclosed that the stomach contained no alcohol.

The strange and spectacular end of the noted officer who was carried to his death when his closed automobile plunged into the bay left a lively wake of conjecture and lext Move in World Tribunal Issue Depends on Outcome of Meeting.

GETS BURTON VIEWS ON CONDITIONS ABROAD

New Strife Looms Over Economy; President Not Planning Any Trips.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Coolidge will now ad rise with leaders in the Senate over the next move which the United States government should make in the matter of American adherence to the world court. Realizing that the replies of the majority of the nations which are members of the court will contain the new Geneva protocol, under which the American eservations are not accepted, Mr. Coolidge feels that he should take of our ther action until these replies have been studied by himself and by members of the Senate who share with him in the responsibilities of treaty making with foreign powers.

Thus the world court problem Thus the world court problem will no longer plague the executive and legislative branches of the government for some time to come, as it is not expected that the foreign powers will break speed records in sending their replies to Washington. Early next year, perhaps, the President and the Senate will have to consider the advisability of completely eliminating any further pletely eliminating any further chance of the United States becom-ing involved in this league to bunal. Meanwhile, however, President Coolidge knows of no contemplated move to withdraw America's application for membership, excepting such moves as have been in-itiated by senatorial opponents of the court.

Talks With Burton.

The President's views on this matter, as outlined by the White House spokesman yesterday, came after Mr. Coolidge had discussed European affairs in general and the world court in particular with Representative Theodore E. Burton, who is back from Geneva, where he attended the meeting of the Interparliamentary Union. Mr. Burton does not think the powers will ac-cept America's reservations, which viewpoint tends to discourage for-lorn hope of internationalists that the league powers may later change their minds and bring America into the court on America's terms. Other views expressed by Mr. Burton were more frank and outspoken than expected. He does not believe the league arms conference promises to get anywhere with the question of limitation of armaments. He does, however, expect France to ultimately ratify the Mellon-Berenger debt settlement.

According to the White House spokesman yesterday, President Coolidge foresees another problem looming up which has no connection with pending foreign affairs or with politics. It concerns a prospective head-on collision between the ex-ecutive and legislative branches of the government over the question of government expenditures. Mr. method of procedure to be followed by any state desiring to intervene kept down and will continue to stress the need of strict economy and to point out that further relief Under the new rules dissenting not indorse any plan to let sown the bars so far as spending the government's money is concerned.

But the Coolidge aconomy program to not going to be carried out in such manner as to weaken the national defense or otherwise impair proper working of the governmental machinery, it was said. For example, Mr. Coolidge has been advised that reports are about to be printed that the size of the army is to be cut down to conform to the budget program. Such reports have no foundation, whatever, the White House spokesman stated with emphasis. Nor is the navy to be neglected, it was added.

The President feels that it is always necessary to carefully acrutinize army and navy expenditures, because they form such an important and large item of annual expenses. But this does not mean that the national defense is to be jeopardized in order to curtail expenses, it was stated.

that the national defense is to be jeopardized in order to curtail expenses, it was stated.

President Coolidge has no plans to make any trips away from Washington in the near future, which fact is interpreted to mean that he will not go into Massachusetts to take part in the political battle being waged in that State for the senatorial seat between William M. Butler, the President's close personal friend, and former senator David I. Walsh. It was stated in this contaction that the President does not expect to find time to attend the Army and Navy football game in Chicago late in November.

France and Little Entente Favor Proposal, But Fail to Win Adoption.

U. S. STAND IS UPHELD

Geneva, Switzerland, Oct. 1 (By . P.) .- The experts of the preparadisarmament commission failed to reach an agreement today as to whether it is practicable to limit armaments by limiting national budgetary expenditures.

The delegations of France and the little entente powers answered the question affirmatively, but those of the United States, Argentina, Sweden, Holland, Germany and Japan insisted that such method was impracticable, inequitable and hence inadmissible.

The commission therefore dropped the question and took up the thesis that importance should be given to such factors as population given to such factors as population and national resources in drafting the scale of armaments permissible to the various countries. The United States, Germany, Great Britain, France, Italy, Poland and Roumania agreed on a common text in answer to this question to serve as a basis for discussion.

DOUBTFUL OF ARMS

SMALL NATIONS BUILD WARCRAFT TO KEEP UP

Blames U. S. Commissioners for Unfriendly Attitude in France Toward America.

(By the Associated Press.) Senator Swanson, of Virginia, anking Democrat on the Senate foreign relations and naval committees, returned from Europe yesterday with doubts as to the suc- with Daugherty concerning the Mercessful outcome of the naval disarmament conference in Geneva or of payment of the French debt un-der the terms of the settlement. He declined to discuss the world court reservations, which he draft-ed, until after he had conferred with State Department officials, except to say they were clear and not open to such interpretations as made by members of the court. "There will not be any substantial navai reduction until the Mediterranean and English channel problems have been settled," he asserted. "I do not feel very hopeful of anything substantial being ac-complished, as most European na-tions believe their safety exists only with their supremacy.

Sees Hope in Tangier.

The difficulty lies in the fact, he said, that France, Italy and some o the smaller countries are unable to compete with Great Britain's capsubmarines and aircraft.

Both France and Italy are dependent, he continued, on uninter-rupted commerce in the Mediter-ranean to protect their trade and outlying possessions, while at the same time Great Britain must keep same time Great Britain must keep the Mediterranean open for the pro-tection of her possessions in Asia and Africa. At present, he said, Britain virtually dominates this sea by control of the Suez canal and Gibraltar.

The Virginia senator sees a ray of hope in Tangier, which, he said, also was in a commanding position in the Mediterranean, and could be used internationally to secure the safety of all nations in the sea.

The British fleet threatens the safety of France, Germany, Belgium and Holland in the English channel, he said, and these countries are building submarines and aircraft for the protection of their coasts. Yet the life of the British isles also is dependent upon control of the channel, he added.

Surprised at Feeling.

Senator Swanson said he was sur-prised to find Europe did not appre-ciate the liberal terms of the debt settlement with the United States and that Americans were not greeted with the cordiality with which they were formerly.

The French people were ignorant of the terms of the settlement, he continued, because only the French side had been presented to them, and they do not realize the United States has agreed to cancel all of the debt prior to the armistice. The senator blamed the American debt commissioners for this attitude of the French, asserting the com-away in few days Badger, Minn., March 1:—"A while ago I was troubled with a skin disease, a mild case of itch., which was very distressing. It began on my leg and was most aggravating; the more I scratched it, the more it itched. Finally a number of tiny pimples formed and soon spread all over my body. It became so bad that I did not know what to do about it and was going to consult a physician when a friend of mine suggested that I' try Resinol Ointment. I bought a jar the next day and was delighted with the relief I obtained after the first application. A few more treatments and the itch was entirely gone. I have also used Resinol Soap and Ointment for blackheads and pimples and it helped wonderfully. I cannot praise Resinol enough for all the good it has done me." (Signed) Celia Stoffel, Star Route.

THE TRUTH ABOUT FLORIDA.

Officials and influential men in Florida are charged with deliberately minimizing the damage wrought by the recent hurricane, through fear that tourists will keep away from Florida. Messages have been sent to the North, suggesting that no further help is needed, and making it appear that there is little hardship or suffering because of wrecked homes. Thus the public has been dissuaded from contributing to the Red Cross rellef fund, despite President Coolidge's urgent appeal to the people, and thousands of homeless individuals in Florida are suffering in consequence.

The charge of suppressing the truth is made by no less an authority than John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross. He makes it after carefully verifying the reports sent from Florida by Red Cross agents. Therefore it stands as an appalling indictment against the good sense and moral courage of the Florida authorities.

The people of the United States take at par what John Barton Payne has to say. His statement convicts the Florida authorities of selfish stupidity and shocking heartlessness.

Five thousand homes have been destroyed in Florida, and 18,000 families have been impoverished. There is widespread suffering which the Red Cross is trying to alleviate. The efforts of the Red Cross to act in behalf of the nation in this work of relief are hampered by the obstructive tactics of selfish interests. The poor people who suffered are regarded as of less consequence than the hotel and tourist business of Florida," says Judge Payne. He personally renews the appeal for funds for the relief of hurricane victims.

The attempt to make it appear that the hurricane did very little damage is not only selfish, but is utterly foolish. The world knows the truth. When Florida real estate interests attempt to deny the truth they not merely hold themselves up to contempt, but they earn the execration of every lover of humanity when it is demonstrated that this lying campaign increases suffering among the poor by retarding measures for their relief Floridians should remember that San Francisco made itself a laughing stock by trying to deny that it had suffered an earthquake shock. Is not the good name of Florida of some value. as well'as its real estate? The consequence of a campaign of falsification in Florida will be very injurious if it should develop that human beings have been sacrificed to greed.

The best thing that the governor of Florida and all its citizens can do is to state the exact and full truth as quickly as possible, to welme the relief efforts of the Red Cross until relief work, and to squelch the idiotic attempt at Miami to deceive the people of the United

The effect of the manipulation of the rubber market by the British syndicate which controls the production of the East Indies, according to the statements made before the House commerce committee last spring, is noted in the fact that while the average price paid by the American users of the crude gum in the early months of 1925 was 34.5 cents per pound, the price exacted by the British holders of tubber stocks from their American customers was more than double the figure of 1925, or

PAY ROLL BANDITS.

Four men carrying a pay roll consisting of $47,000 in cash were held up in Baltimore yesterday by three bandits. The victims were unarmed. The bandits approached them and leisurely took out weapons from a guitar case which one of them carried. By using their weapons the bandits intimidated their victims and took the money, escaping in an automobile

The practice of carrying large sums of money in the streets of any town is now fool; ish. It is equivalent to making gifts to bandits and thereby stimulating the bandit industry. But if employers will insist upon trying to handle cash instead of checks, they should arm the employes who carry the pay roll money, and these employes should carry their guns in their hands, not in their pockets. The Balti more citizens who were held up yesterday had abundant time in which to kill their three as sailants.

Banditry is increasing because of the blun ders of those who become victims. Not until citizens take the precautions necessary to hold the upper hand can they expect to cope with bandits. When four men carrying a pay roll go unarmed, and yield their rich booty without a fight, they encourage the bandit industry everywhere. If these four men, outnum bering their assailants, had had guns in their hands they would not have been approached But since it is not in the public interest to turn the streets into shambles, even for the sake of killing bandits, the obvious thing for all employers to do is to abandon the sending of pay rolls through the streets.

TOO MANY TRIBUNALS.

The seeking of nonjudicial tribunals to take the place of the courts is a growing practice Public utility, interstate commerce and railroad commissions, workmen's compensation tribunals, trade commissions and other similar bodies have all been established with the idea in mind of meeting situations which are not easily disposed of by courts of justice. Commercial arbitration has come to be an accepted stipulation in contracts between em ployer and employe.

Commenting on this matter in a current periodical, Prof. Charles E. Clark, of Yale university law school, calls attention to the fact that precedents and courses of procedure are growing to such an extent that it may be found that the limit of advantageous development of this movement may have been reached. A court turns out to be a court, no matter what title is given it, and there may be unwisdom in multiplying forms of courts with the attendant possible confusion of authority.

It is admitted generally that there is need of simplification of court procedures. Although there must be rules of procedure, so that courts may act in an orderly manner, such rules by their very nature tend to become fossilized and unworkable and should be constantly revised. Careful study of the court system as a governmental institution functioning in modern life is desirable.

Law schools, the bench and the bar devote themselves to the study of substantive, or existing, law. What is needed is a study of the means to be used in making such substantive law effective under existing conditions. The 48 States constitute as many laboratories for such study. If, then, there could be formed some official body, charged with the discovery and fostering of reform and improvement in the judicial system, much might be accomplished to enable people to live to gether more easily, with some degree of harmony, in this crowded universe.

TO CONSOLIDATE RAILROADS.

It is reported that the administration looks with favor on the so-called Parker bill, providing for the unification of carriers engaged in interstate commerce. President Coolidge it is said, believes some system of consolida tion should be worked out for the welfare of both the railroads and shippers. Experts hold that the transportation act of 1920 is not sufficient to bring about the desired result.

The Parker bill declares that the policy of the United States is to maintain the weaker and necessary short lines; and for that pur pose it authorizes and encourages the unification of the several railroad systems. The plan involves (a) purchase of the property of one railroad by another, (b) corporate merger (c) acquisition of securities issued by a carrier

The bill provides that when the Interstate Commerce Commission approves of a plan of consolidation it will issue an order to tha effect, which becomes effective when approved by the board of directors and majority holders of voting securities. Such consolidated carriers will be exempt from the operation of the antitrust laws. Dissenting security holders will have a right of protest. The new consolidation will have the right of eminent domain and all other rights accruing to common carriers. The proposed law is based upon voluntary action, and is believed to possess elements more acceptable to the railroads than was the Cummins bill of the last road transportation rates can be lowered, and the shippers served better, under the operation of a consolidation plan such as is contained in

FICTION BECOMES TRUTH.

About two years ago Nina Wilcox Putnam published a novel entitled "Easy." The central character, whose happy-go-lucky disposition earned for him the nickname by which the book was titled, was a New England youth who, in the spirit of adventure, got a job as motorcycle police officer. From that he graduated to the position of prohibition enforcement officer, and the story concerns itself with the discovery and rounding up of a preminent ciety bootleggers.

exclusive art shop. Located on Fifth avenue in New York city, displaying only two or three valuable canvases, its customers were few and far between. In the course of the story, suspicion is raised as to the authenticity of the business, and "Easy" sets out to investigate. Adrian Lee turns out to be Adrian Bowditch, the master mind of the bootlegger band. The art shop, it seems, is merely a blind to conceal the operation of the more lucrative occupation. One Harry Finlay was arrested last Wednesday in New York and is being held for the grand jury to answer the charges of bootlegging. His patron list is said to be a veritable copy of the blue book and directory of directors. A raid on his rooms yielded price lists of liquors and explicit directions for mixing various drinks. His headquarters strange as it may seem, was behind the front of an exclusive Fifth avenue art shop.

The incident is so similar to Miss Putnam's story that one might easily have been copied from the other. Possibly the grand jury had better ask Finlay if he has read the novel. It this can be established, perhaps Mr. Buckner, prominent prosecutor of prohibition cases in New York, will find it advisable to establish a book review force with the idea of suppression of all novels presenting methods of circumventing the law.

REMEMBER THE BOYS.

The United States has made liberal financial provision for disabled veterans, but the equitable distribution of relief presents a tremen dous task, and there are certain activities that are best attended to by nongovernmental Among the auxiliaries that are recognized by Federal enactment and indorsed by the President and the director of the veterans' bureau is the Disabled American Veterans.

The Washington unit of this national organization, composed entirely of men disabled in the war, maintains a full-time liaison officer whose services, without cost, are available to the disabled man and his relatives. In snanning the gap between the veteran and the bureau, the D. A. V. has performed so wel that its work has been highly praised by the government officials best qualified to pass upon the value of the service.

The organized disabled men today make their annual forget-me-not appeal for funds. Women and girls will sell the symbolical flowers throughout the city, and the public by its generosity should show that Washington has not forgotten the men of 1915 and 1918, for whom there has been no real

EUROPEAN STEEL COMBINE.

It is announced at Pittsburgh that the new European steel combine, embracing manufacturers of steel products in France, Germany, Belgium, Luxemburg and the Sarre valley will have slight effect upon the American in dustry, so far as foreign competition is con cerned:

In 1923 the total American production of ron and steel commodities, as classified by the census bureau, was approximately 47,512,000 tons, valued at about $4,161,938,000. Of this total production only about 2,000,000 tons, valued at approximately $28,967,000, were exported. In the twelve months ended with June 30 last, total exports of manufactures of iron and steel were valued about $158,000. 000, or something like 4 per cent of the total domestic production. The United States consumed approximately 96 per cent of its total production of iron and steel manufactures. It is believed that efficiency in the American industry will overcome any differences in wages between the United States and the five manufacturing areas in the European combine Average weekly wages in American steel mills are about $30 a week, while in Germany the reekly wage is about $11.40; France, about $12 and Belgium, about $10. The question is whether the European combine can enter the American markets on a large scale and cripple the American industry, thus reducing wages in American mills. American steel magnates say that they do not fear this competition, as there is a market in Europe for all that the roneans can produce.

"LET'S GO"=To Church=YOUR Church

Where Shall We Find God?

E find Him in the confidence existing between man and man in the business world. We find Him in the man in the business world. We find Him in the strength and loyalty of friendship. We find Him in the care and affection of the home. We find Him in the purity of womanhood, the nobility of manhood and the loveliness of childhood.

We find Him in every deed of self-sacrifice and devotion.

We find Him in every proclamation of truth and every summons to righteousness.

We find Him in every service that is rendered for others. We find Him in the contented mind and in the calm of the untroubled spirit.

Wherever there is GOOD there is GOD.

Look for Him in the latent goodness of the human heart.

The church for centuries has pointed to these things as tokens and evidences of the presence of the Divine Spirit.

Kerney's Story Stands Alone as True Estimate of Wilson, Say Intellectual Leaders

CROSS the stage of the modern world there has walked a tremendous man whose name will loom A large in the records of permanent history.

Because of the overtopping position he assumed and the colossal power he wielded, Woodrow Wilson must remain one of the Titans of the world. Whether genius or pedant, whether prophet or bigot, Woodrow Wilson must so remain.

It is conceivable that by the historian of the future Woodrow Wilson will be accepted as the prototype and exemplar of the great revolutionary age through which he moved, in the same fashion that Bismarck, Napoleon, Marlborough, Cromwell, have been accepted as exemplars of their particular times. It is certain that the historian must search the records of Woodrow Wilson's career for understanding of this age, and must try in all his searching to solve the obscure enigmas of Wood-row Wilson's character, of his ambitions, his visions and his political maneuvers.

In the opinion of notable historical scholars, as well as of statesmen and journalists who were associated with Wilson, the first impartial, the shrewdest and the most understanding biography of Woodrow Wilson has been written by James Kerney with his remarkable political education of Woodrow Wilson.

R. KERNEY has written a story of Woodrow Wilson's public life which all persons surfeited by adulation and malignity will read with pleasure and genuine profit.

Beyond all question he has written the best book on President Wilson. He keeps his balance. He is realistic and sympathetic.

"Every college student in America ought to be com-pelled to read this volume. Anybody who wants to know the great game' should study Mr. Kerney's remarkable work from lid to lid. And finally, all and sundry, high and low, who fain would understand the temper and tactics of Woodrow Wilson, his principles and policies, the medium in which he worked and the history of his troubled age, must master this impressive human docu-

Thus Dr. Charles A. Beard, of Columbia University, eminent American historian, writes in The New Re-

Mr. Kerney's remarkable life study has been received with unanimous acclaim of a like tenor by other scholars and by the national press, in superlative encomiums which could be quoted to an extent far beyond the space available. At the most meager estimate Mr. Kerney's book is one of two or three essentials for comprehending Wilson. At higher estimate, in the belief of intellectual leaders, it stands alone.

Woodrow Wilson has come to life in Mr. Kerney's book—Wilson the conservative scholar, the foe of radicalism, dreaming and aspiring all his life to authority over men, becoming under the intense pressure of practical affairs a politician more shrewd and ruthless than the hard-headed bosses who first made him, becoming "two-fisted radical," and then-as the dictatorship of war swept him onward in power and unloosed the submerged wellsprings of his character—"equally twofisted autocrat." Here is the man Wilson, part Messiah part Caesar, dreamer and doer in one, going forward through manifold enlargements and changes in his character—going always forward under guidance of a star which he never doubted.

AMES KERNEY has been for thirty years publisher of the Trenton Times. A man who has preferred to move behind the scenes rather than to preempt the strutting s—e, he was one of the famous "three Jims" who made Woodrow Wilson President.

From the first days at Princeton until Wilson's death. Kerney was closely associated with the President. Few other men, if any, remained with Wilson to the end. Harvey, McCombs, Bryan, House, and at the last even Tumulty broke with Wilson, or were broken. James Kerney stayed. Seeking no personal glory, desiring no personal power, he remained a confidant without vanity and a friend without delusions.

Because of his abstention from all self-seeking, because of the rarely judicious inclination of his mind, to him has fallen the task and on him the honor of setting down the first unpartisan life story of Woodrow Wilson. It is a picturesque and vital history which is subject to no controverting, and which unlikely will be enlarged on.

I should like to quote your letter, but I shall not do so, A. J., but as your home from whence it came is far away I shall risk using your initials for purposes of identification. The only answer that I have for you is one that you may not find much to your liking, but it is the best that I can do for your and still be giving you the you and still be giving you the honest opinion for which you asked. honest opinion for which you asked. Why, after five years with the best husband in the world, do you still despise to cook and keep your home and seem to take so little interest in it? Because, just as you have stated, you take no interest in it! There is the entire answer in a nutshell. One's home, if the homemaker happens not to be a homelover, with the tendencies that go to make efficiency, must be put on to make efficiency, must be put on a business basis to be successful. a business basis to be successful. If you had given your best thought and effort to your home you would not be a "bum cook" after five "hectic" years, but a good one, doing what you have to do in the least possible time and as well as it can be done by any one. Why be rated second best by your own admission? We do not have to like a thing to do it well, although I will admit that it is easier to do a thing that is attractive though I will admit that it is easier to do a thing that is attractive to us than one that is not. If you were still in business your employer would have every right to expect your best effort, and you would have, as you well know, every right to expect a blue ticket if you gave less than your best. Surely this "best husband in the world" should not expect or receive less than your best effort, should less than your best effort, should he? And do you for a moment admit, that, having been a successful business woman, you should give less than your best effort to this, your new job? Indeed, you do not. Well, then, my honest opinion would be that you are a failure as a home. went, then, by hones opinion would be that you are a failure as a home-maker because you have never tried to be one. It takes less time to care for a home when you know how, and less time and effort to cook well when your effort is an in-telligent one. Get in and learn, you will find it a pleasure. And when you have accomplished your end you will find that the best husand prefers to stay at home for dinner rather than to take you out. You will find that it is fun to do the dishes together and read afterward rather than go to the movie that inevitably follows dinner out. And inevitably follows dinner out. And you will find it fun to keep the budget and see the balance grow because there are few dinners at restaurants. How do I know this? If you had not wanted just what I have outlined you would not have come to me at all. Some of us are born homemakers, some achieve it, and same have it thrust upon them. Since you have thrust it upon yourself, turn to and achieve it. I am sending to you at once the name of not one but two splendid cookbooks and enough very attractive recipes to keep you busy for days upon days, and do not forget that I fully expect to hear from you as to your progress and success It is difficult to remind myself that this is a food column, but how and where am I to say these things when they are asked of me if not here? To make up for all this there is to be an innovation today. Just for a change let's have only recines (and I have a number of delightful ones for you) and then make our own selection for the dinners that are to take place between now and the next column.

The advantage of such an arrangement are twofold To begin with, the man who is dressing in a hurry and who has in mind a particular shirt or necktle, can pick it out at once without hav-ing to waste time by going through all his things. This arrangement also enables a man to keep track of his belongings. While the illustra-tion shows a group of shirts, neckties and socks placed in one drawer, it would be found much more con-venient to allot one drawer to the neckties, another drawer to socks and handkerchiefs and the remaining drawers to shirts, underwear and pajamas, sweaters and waist-coats. I have been going steady for the past six months with a young fellow who is old enough to know his own mind (I think).

My girl friend has been going with this fellow's boy chum for the same length of time. A great deal of the trouble—physical, mental and social—from which children suffer is the result of chronic fatigue, called "chronic subefficiency" by Dr. Scham. It is recognized by the complaints of the child, decrease in capacity for school work, decrease in physical strength and endurance, and signs of emotional unbalance.

As a rule, adults who lead sedentary lives can indulge in foolish food fads without doing themselves great harm. But children can not. They must have a plentiful supply of standard foods, such as milk, meat, bread, cereals, vegetables and fruit, or suffer the consequences.

The most frequent fault with the diet of the growing child is that it is over rich in carbohydrates. is over rich in carbohydrates.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulasion, an emulaified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other heals the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma. Bronchitts and other forms of respiratory diseasant and is excellent for the cough and colds, bronchial asthma. The cough of the c

Gains ranging up to 8 points in General Motors, and 15½ points in Du Pont, were registered, and these, with Union Pacific and many others attack new highs in a volume. ers attained new highs in a volume month stronger and more active than it had been for several weeks. A crisp opening, with most of the leading issues a point or more high-er, was followed by further and steady improvement until at the close gains of 3 to 5 points were common and recessions compara-tively few. In most instances final prices were the best in weeks.

Continuance of the advance that began in the afternoon of Thursday had been expected. In the final hour of the previous session the market had shown signs of an oversold conhad shown signs of an oversold condition, and the failure of call money to go above 6 per cent and the continuance of the Federal Reserve rediscount rate had reassured traders who were nervous over possible credit stringency. The announcement of a remewal of 5½ per cent for call money was also in line with expectations, but the sentimental effect of a decrease seemed to be bullish, and the advance, which had begun to slow down toward the end of the first hour, was resumed with increased impetus and was mainincreased impetus and was maindealings about 100,000 shares an hour larger than in the preceding

At its strongest, however, the market never quite lost its selective market never quite lost its selective character. The less seasoned issues, which had been selling off consistently during September, followed the leaders in the initial stages of the spurt today, but they could not keep up the pace and dropped be-hind, a few showing losses for the day.

The strongest groups were the industrials and the coppers. Among the issues reaching new maximum prices were Radio Corporation, Union Carbide, Kennecott, Miami, Utah and Nevada coppers. Other shares conspicuously strong were United States Cast Iron Pipe, with a net gain of 77's; Allied Chemical, American Express, Woolworth, Pullman, Loose-Wiles, Case Threshing Machine and U.S. Steel com-mon, the last named closing 31/4

During the ten years which ended in 1925 net income prior to deduc-tions for employe profit-sharing was Chicago, Oct. 1 (By A. P.).—With indications of clearing weather in Canada likely to bring about better conditions for crop movement, wheat values went lower today during the early dealings. Opening ½c to ¾c down, the wheat market continued to age. down, the wheat market continued to sag.

Corn and oats were easy, corn starting unchanged, but soon undergoing a slight decline. Provisions held about steady.

Evidence of a pause in export demand gave wheat bears something of an advantage at times today. It was urged in this connection that the volume and consistency of buying on the part of exporters is the chief key at present to the trend of prices. Another subsect of comment was a report from railroad sources that farmers in the Southwest are planting thousands of acres more wheat this fall than they did last fall.

Unofficial monthly crop summaries issued today indicate that the total yield of corn will be about 2.724,000.

"Am Very Optimistic"---Hornsby "Team in Good Shape"---Huggins

New York, Oct. 1 (By A. P.) .- Rival managers of the world series contenders, Miller Huggins, of the Yankees, and Rogers Hornsby, of the Cardinals, joined tonight in predicting a hardfought battle for the championship. Hornsby said:

"I am very optimistic. We have a well-balanced club, more so in my opinion than the Yankees. Without taking anything away from the strength of our opposition, I feel we have an edge when all departments of play are taken into consideration. We're going in there to fight every step of the way; we'll need to because the Yankees are powerful and I expect a close battle.' Huggins' statement:

"My team is in good shape. I'm not picking the winner, but if the Yankees play as they did in piling up their big lead last spring, I won't have any complaints. If it doesn't, why that's another story. I look for a hard-fought series."

Question How Sherdel Will Pitch to Yank Batters.

By JOHN J. M'GRAW, Manager, New York Giants. New YORK, Oct. 1.—As we all hurry up to the stadium, more or less influenced by the big crowd and the excitement at the opening of another world series, the Right now it seems certain that again, when Judge K. M. Landis Willie Sherdel will pitch. Hornoby having decided to throw in a lefthander at the start. Sherdel is not only a southpaw, but he is one of the best pitchers in the country. He is a student of the game.

This thing of ritching to excitate that the game of the proceeding to proceed from a growd of just less than the content of the game.

I am hoping that Hornsby will take his own counsel and do just what his own judgment dictates. In what his own judgment dictates. In that way he will come nearer solv-ing the weaknesses of the opposing batters than any other. It has even happened that a pretended friend has gone over the batters with a manager and then told the other side what happened and what was

The Steries, or any other Cardinal pitcher, works intelligently and carefully against the Yankees, he is just as likely to win as Herb Pennock, who I understand is slated to work for New York.

PERSONALLY I always have avoided taking advice on batters when it was possible to do so. I had much rather use by own judgment. Then I have but one chance of going wrong. If I listen to others I have just that many more chances of being wrong. We never have but one chance of being right.

N EW YORK, Oct. 1.—Although the world series, like the recurrent elections of Al Smith, has become an almost permanent fall festival in New York the inhabitants of this strange, extravagant town, with millions to spend and apparently no jobs to hold, will jam the subways and choke the streets with taxi caravans again Saturday afternoon, struggling out to the Yankee stadium to watch the Cardinals and Yankees play the opening game of a series that should have been finished by now.

There will be 60,000 and some customers on the property and a vast number of frustrated and emthing uppermost in my mind is: bittered citizens sulking in the How will Hornsby have Sherdel vicinity and vowing the brittle vow pitch to the different Yankee batters?

This thing of pitching to certain batters is, after all, a matter for the manager to decide alone. His greatest handicap is the enormous, amount of advice and suggestions he gets from friends. Their opinions differ widely, and if a manager listens to them all he is bound to get confused.

There are a few citizens of the leisurely tribe of New Yorkers who have time to go to ball games, who haven't seen world's series game on this lawn before.

THEY will see his honor, the judge, chin himself on the rail of his box and agitate his cigar; they will see the mayor take a tremendous windup and hurl the first ball fully fifteen feet, and they may see Babe Ruth's bat come around with a smash to drive the ball into the bleacher trade.

A winning ball club is neither a novelty nor a very precious posses-sion here. BY HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST. THE fact that a champion can repeat was demonstrated yesterday when George J. Voigt, of Bannockburn, the present hold-er of the District amateur golf title, won the title for the second with cards of 324.

Voigt's round yesterday morning was marred by several hooked sec-ond shots, due to the use of wooden clubs, and his round of 78 left him only four strokes ahead of Puckerman, who, after an indif-erent 41 for the first nine, came home in 36 for a total of 77.

In the afternoon, however, Voigt started with a birdie 3, on the first hole, running down a putt from the edge of the green, and thereafter was never in danger of defeat. He discarded his wooden clubs in discarded his wooden clubs in favor of irons and had the sat-isfaction of seeing his second shots travel directly toward the

With only one three-putt green the seventh, he was fortunate in hind Voight was a most creditable performance considering the fact that he has been playing golf for 37 years. He overcame the shortness of his approaches by chipping dead to the nin for one suit of the Huntingdon Valley club, near Philadelphia.

After Maj. Naiden had romped away with the first position, the interest in the event centered in the ness of his approaches by chapped dead to the pin for one putt on many of the greens, and on only one green throughout the round did he take three putts.

The cards of Voight and Tuckerman were as follows:

of 34.

This left him at the beginning of the afternoon round with a total of 24 strokes, tieing for fourth place with Harry Pitt, and as he played the first nine in 42. Pitt having taken 80 for the eighteen holes, he needed only a 79 to follow immediately behind Voight and Tuckerman.

Unfortunately he met disaster on the seventeenth hole, where after a missed drive and two inadequate econd shots, he reached the green in 6 and dropped the-ball in the cup with a dull, sickening thud for an 8.

When, on the short sixteenth, he holded his second into a trap, holing out in 5, his undoing was complete, and he failed to qualify by two strokes.

Other scores were as follows:

Mrs. Stetson Eliminates Conqueror of Miss Collett, While Mrs. Goss Scores Over . Mrs. Smith-Finals on Today.

HAVERFORD, Pa., Oct. 1 (By A. P.).—Two mothers won their way to the final round of the national women's golf cham-pionship at Merion today for the second time in the 32 years' history

The victors were Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, of Philadelphia, who went Stetson, of Philadelphia, who went inneteen holes in a sensational finish to defeat 20-year-old Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, conqueror of Glenna Collett yesterday, and Mrs. Wright D. He finished his round of 72 holes with a total of 306 strokes, Walter R. Tuckerman, Burning Tree, being second with an aggregate of 312. Harry G. Pitt, Manor, and Frank Roesch, Washington, tied for third place with cards of 324.

Voigt's round yesterday morning Courtland Smith, 3 and 2. In the only other final round struggle between matrons, eleven years ago at the Onwentsia club of Lake Forest, Ill., Mrs. C. H. Vanderbeck, of Philadelphia, defeated Mrs. W. A. Gavin, of England, 3 and 2. Four previous championships have been won by married women, the title holders having been Mrs. C. S. EVERYTHING was going finely for Col. Perkins until the twelfth hole was reached, and then, to speak in military terms, he met the enemy and went down in overwhelming defeat. His opening gun from the tee landed his ball in the rough and after some desultory firing with brassy, iron and mashie, he reached the green in 6 and dropped the-ball in the cup with a dull, sickening thud for an 8.

Here the mid-West girl's game appeared to collapse. She lost two of the last three holes and then went down to ultimate defeat in the first' extra-holes struggle for the ournament.

Neither player could draw from her clubs the golf they had displayed yesterday. They were particularly faulty in their approaching, but it was the older and more experienced Mrs. Stetson who rallied to take command at the crucial stage of the match.

At the fourteenth it was the Chi-

SKATE EVENT COURSE IS CHANGED

Finals for Post Cups to Be Run Off at Barracks.

THROUGH the courtesy of Capt.
John R. D. Cleland, athletic officer of the Washington barracks, the finals of The Washbarracks, the finals of The Washington Post roller skate tournament will be held at the barracks Saturday, October 16. It was originally planned to hold the finals on Seventeenth street but when the baracks' walks were placed at the disposal of The Post, the offer was accepted immediately. One of the many reasons that this is the better place is that spectators is the better place is that spectators can be cared for in large numbers.

Since the announcement was made that The Post would conduct the tourney, ten skaters are now seen where one was before and all are training for the eliminations, which are to be held Saturday, October 9. Entries may be made at room 49, The Post, or at any District playeround. rict playground.

Youngsters, who are training for Youngsters, who are training for the races are advised to spend more time on distance skating than sprints. This is necessary to give endurance. Some speed work should be done every day, possibly three or four 50-yard dashes, then skate about 10 blocks at an even pace. TENNIS BODY

BY following this plan, the competitors will be sure to have enough left in the 75-yard dash, the distance of the races in the eliminations and finals, if a fast spurt is necessary at the finish. Endurance is as valuable as speed in any competition.

Poly Eleven Scores Only Touchdown. Wins, 7 to 0.

Kelley's Team Fails to Impress in Opening Game.

C ENTRAL High school's hopes for a successful football season with an inexperienced team sustained a setback at the very be ginning yesterday when the Blue and White eleven met defeat at the hands of the Baltimore Polytechnic team, 7 to 0, in the opening game at Wilson stadium.

Central showed little to warm the hearts of its supporters at any stage of the contest, and never once threatened to score. But Poly soon displayed power after the first whis tle and, favored by having a fresh halfback ready to jump into the battle at a critical moment, made good when its chance for a touch-

THE game was won in the second quarter, when Harry Lawrence, the abovementioned substitute, bored through the General tackles and through the General tackles and sped down the ends until he crossed the goal line after a succession of plays from the 25-yard line. Pollard drop-kicked for the extra point.

Only in the first five minutes did Central show a semblance of strength on the attack, this being when Simmons and Baum clipped off nice gains. But thereafter the Blue and White line went to pieces, figuratively and literally, while the Poly players smashed through to nail the Central ball carrier.

Coach Kelley presented Capt.

That, however, is the cloth from which these Western rooters are cut, and the way in which they say their team is fashioned. They believe that St. Louis will outgame New York just as it did seven other teams in the National league.

The Yankees, in the doldrums that held them at times this year, will not be hard to beat; but what if they are at their best or near it? Under such circumstances the series may well become a matter of pitching strength, rated by differing experts as from 60 to 80 per cent of the game.

New York, it appears, must de-pend on Pennock, Ruether, Shocker and Waite Hoyt; the Cardinals on Sherdel. Haines, Alexander, Rhem

The New York viewpoint is that the Yankee staff is sufficient with especial emphasis on Ruether. The picture will not down, however, that the season through New York got poor pitching, and that Ruether by his showing in Washington is no

The St. Louis leader this year has hit below his normal stride, but proved his worth by giving a barren baseball field its first emotional harvest. In the ultimate he ought to give his team more than Ruth can the Yankees, remembering, too, some of the poor world's series marks the "Babe" has to his credit.

Certainly, considering all things, the Cardinals must be well considered in this battle which opens to-morrow, weather permitting. Barring only he contingency that the Yankees prove to be once more the wrecking crew of last spring, the St. Louis team should win.

"In death as in life he sustained the finest traditions of that service to which he gave the last full measure of devotion.

"To his loved ones he leaves the priceless heritage of an honored name. To his comrades of the service he leaves the rich gift of inspirational example.

"It is fitting and proper that there shall be entered on this the record of his service these words—than which there can be no nobler epitaph—'Killed in action in line of duty.'"

Traffic congestion costs this country more than $1,600,000,000 every year, more than the cost of highway construction on three million miles of roadway, according to a statement made yesterday by the American Road Builders association, after a survey by expert statisticians.

Immediate widening of roads in and about large cities is not only economically sound but essential to the welfare of the people, according to the statement. The association holds that the cost of traffic delay in cities is greater than the cost of widening, signalizing and im-
